SELF-PORTRAIT

When I was child I had a large room where I had the opportunity to paint on the walls along with a multitude of games, even a swing, including a medical box that I used every time I got injured. I was used to self medicating due to the numerous falls with the bicycle, and I used the medicine even on the dolls I operated on, I imagined myself as a doctor with my sister who was my assistant nurse, I owned a portable yellow record player, music another great passion and the freedom to do whatever I wanted as long as I didn't do any damage ... and I've done so much. I covered my eyes to see if I could still paint without sight. I imagined how I would have done even without my hands, I knew that artists without limbs paint with their mouths.

Luckily I didn't know Van Gogh yet.

The passion for painting and drawing became love at first sight when I discovered that through the opposite window there lived a great painter of sacred art who became my oil painting teacher. At the age of 10 he took me with him to a collective exhibition of Contemporary art in Rome with one of my paintings and I won the young artists prize of Rome. Valery, for that was his name, was a second mother to me.

TRIBUTE TO GEORGIA O'KEEFFE

The contemplation of an artist whose soul sinks into the view of the landscape, inventing the right distance that allows the space to open up to the light of the sky and the immensity of the desert, like an angel suspended between two worlds.

MERMAIDS

In the realm of the imagination, there is a sacred place where the brides of heaven fill the sea with voices and visions. Guardians of the mirage, mermaids are naked female beings who always come out of the depths of an ocean.

Water evokes nudity which can keep an innocence and is representative of the mother who awaits us and welcomes us because she is our first home and is otherwise a protected intimacy, it is the first living space, the corner of the world.

THE POETICS OF SPACE

A fantastical world that in itself is magnificent at it opens on to threshold that is in turn open to freedom, like the poem is an open door to infinity. The sky has no end, it has no limits, the space opens up to the experiences of meta-physical realities. Soul and body enter well-being, in a state of grace and peace. The dream landscape is not the world seen but the one dreamed of.

THE POOL

The dream vision is an act of «suspension», not only of the lovers in the pool, but of the space and time of reality.

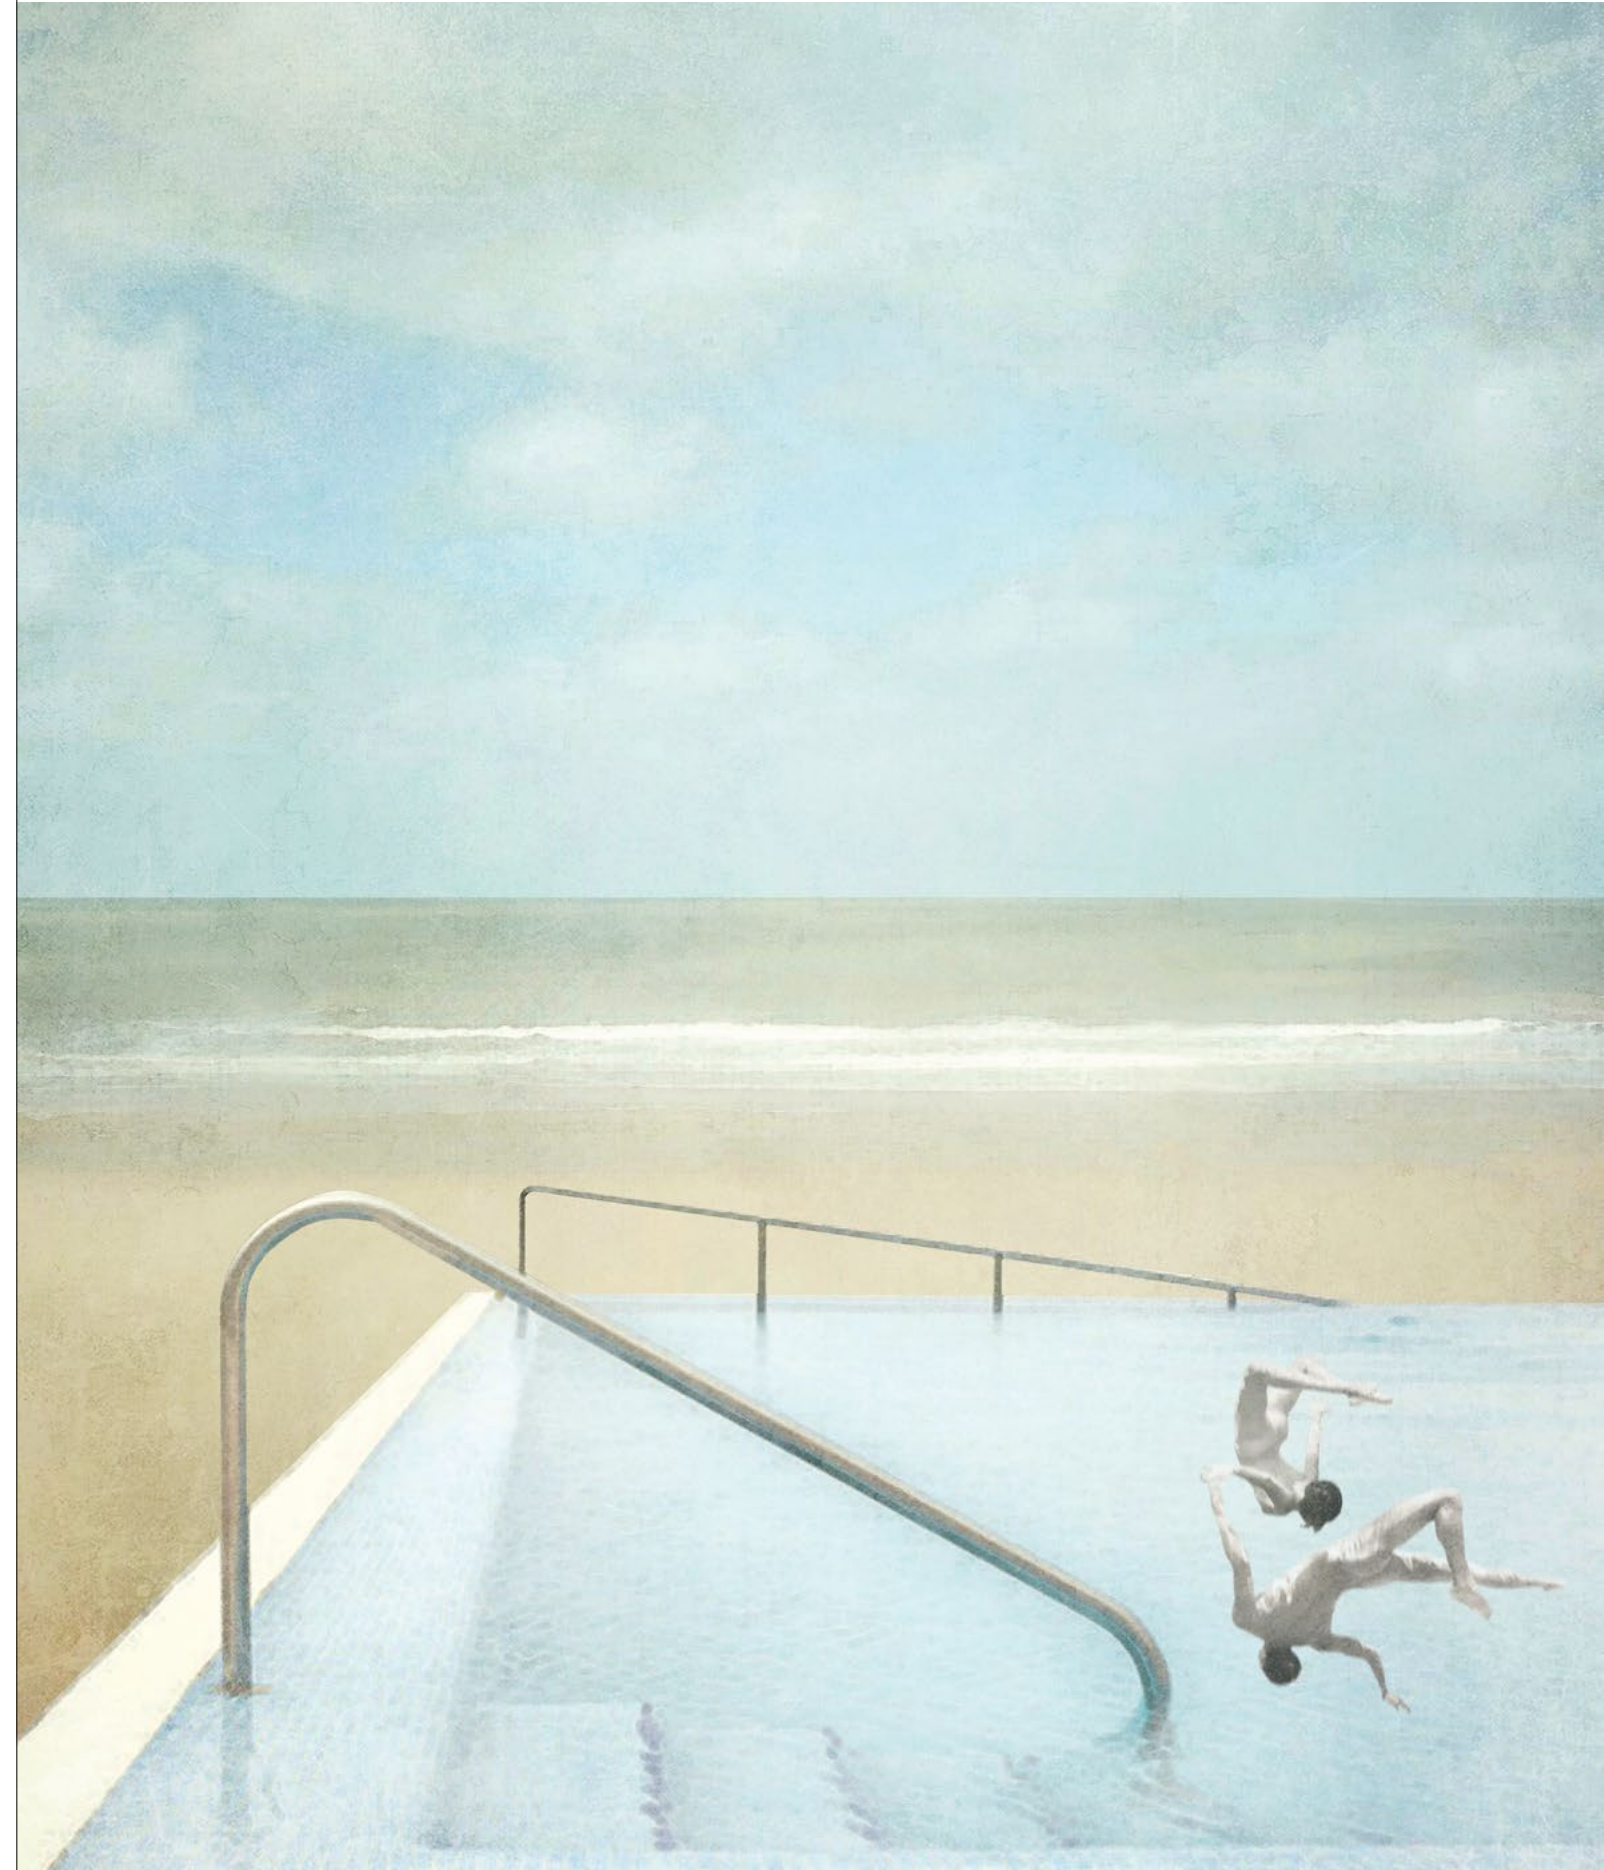

A perspective imagined as a cosmic breath.

A purifying elevation of love through a co-birth capable of freeing all singularities from their heaviness.

The mystery of this encounter expresses an unpredictable moment that makes every finitude radiate beyond itself in a common instantaneous act of openness of one to the other, experienced by both.

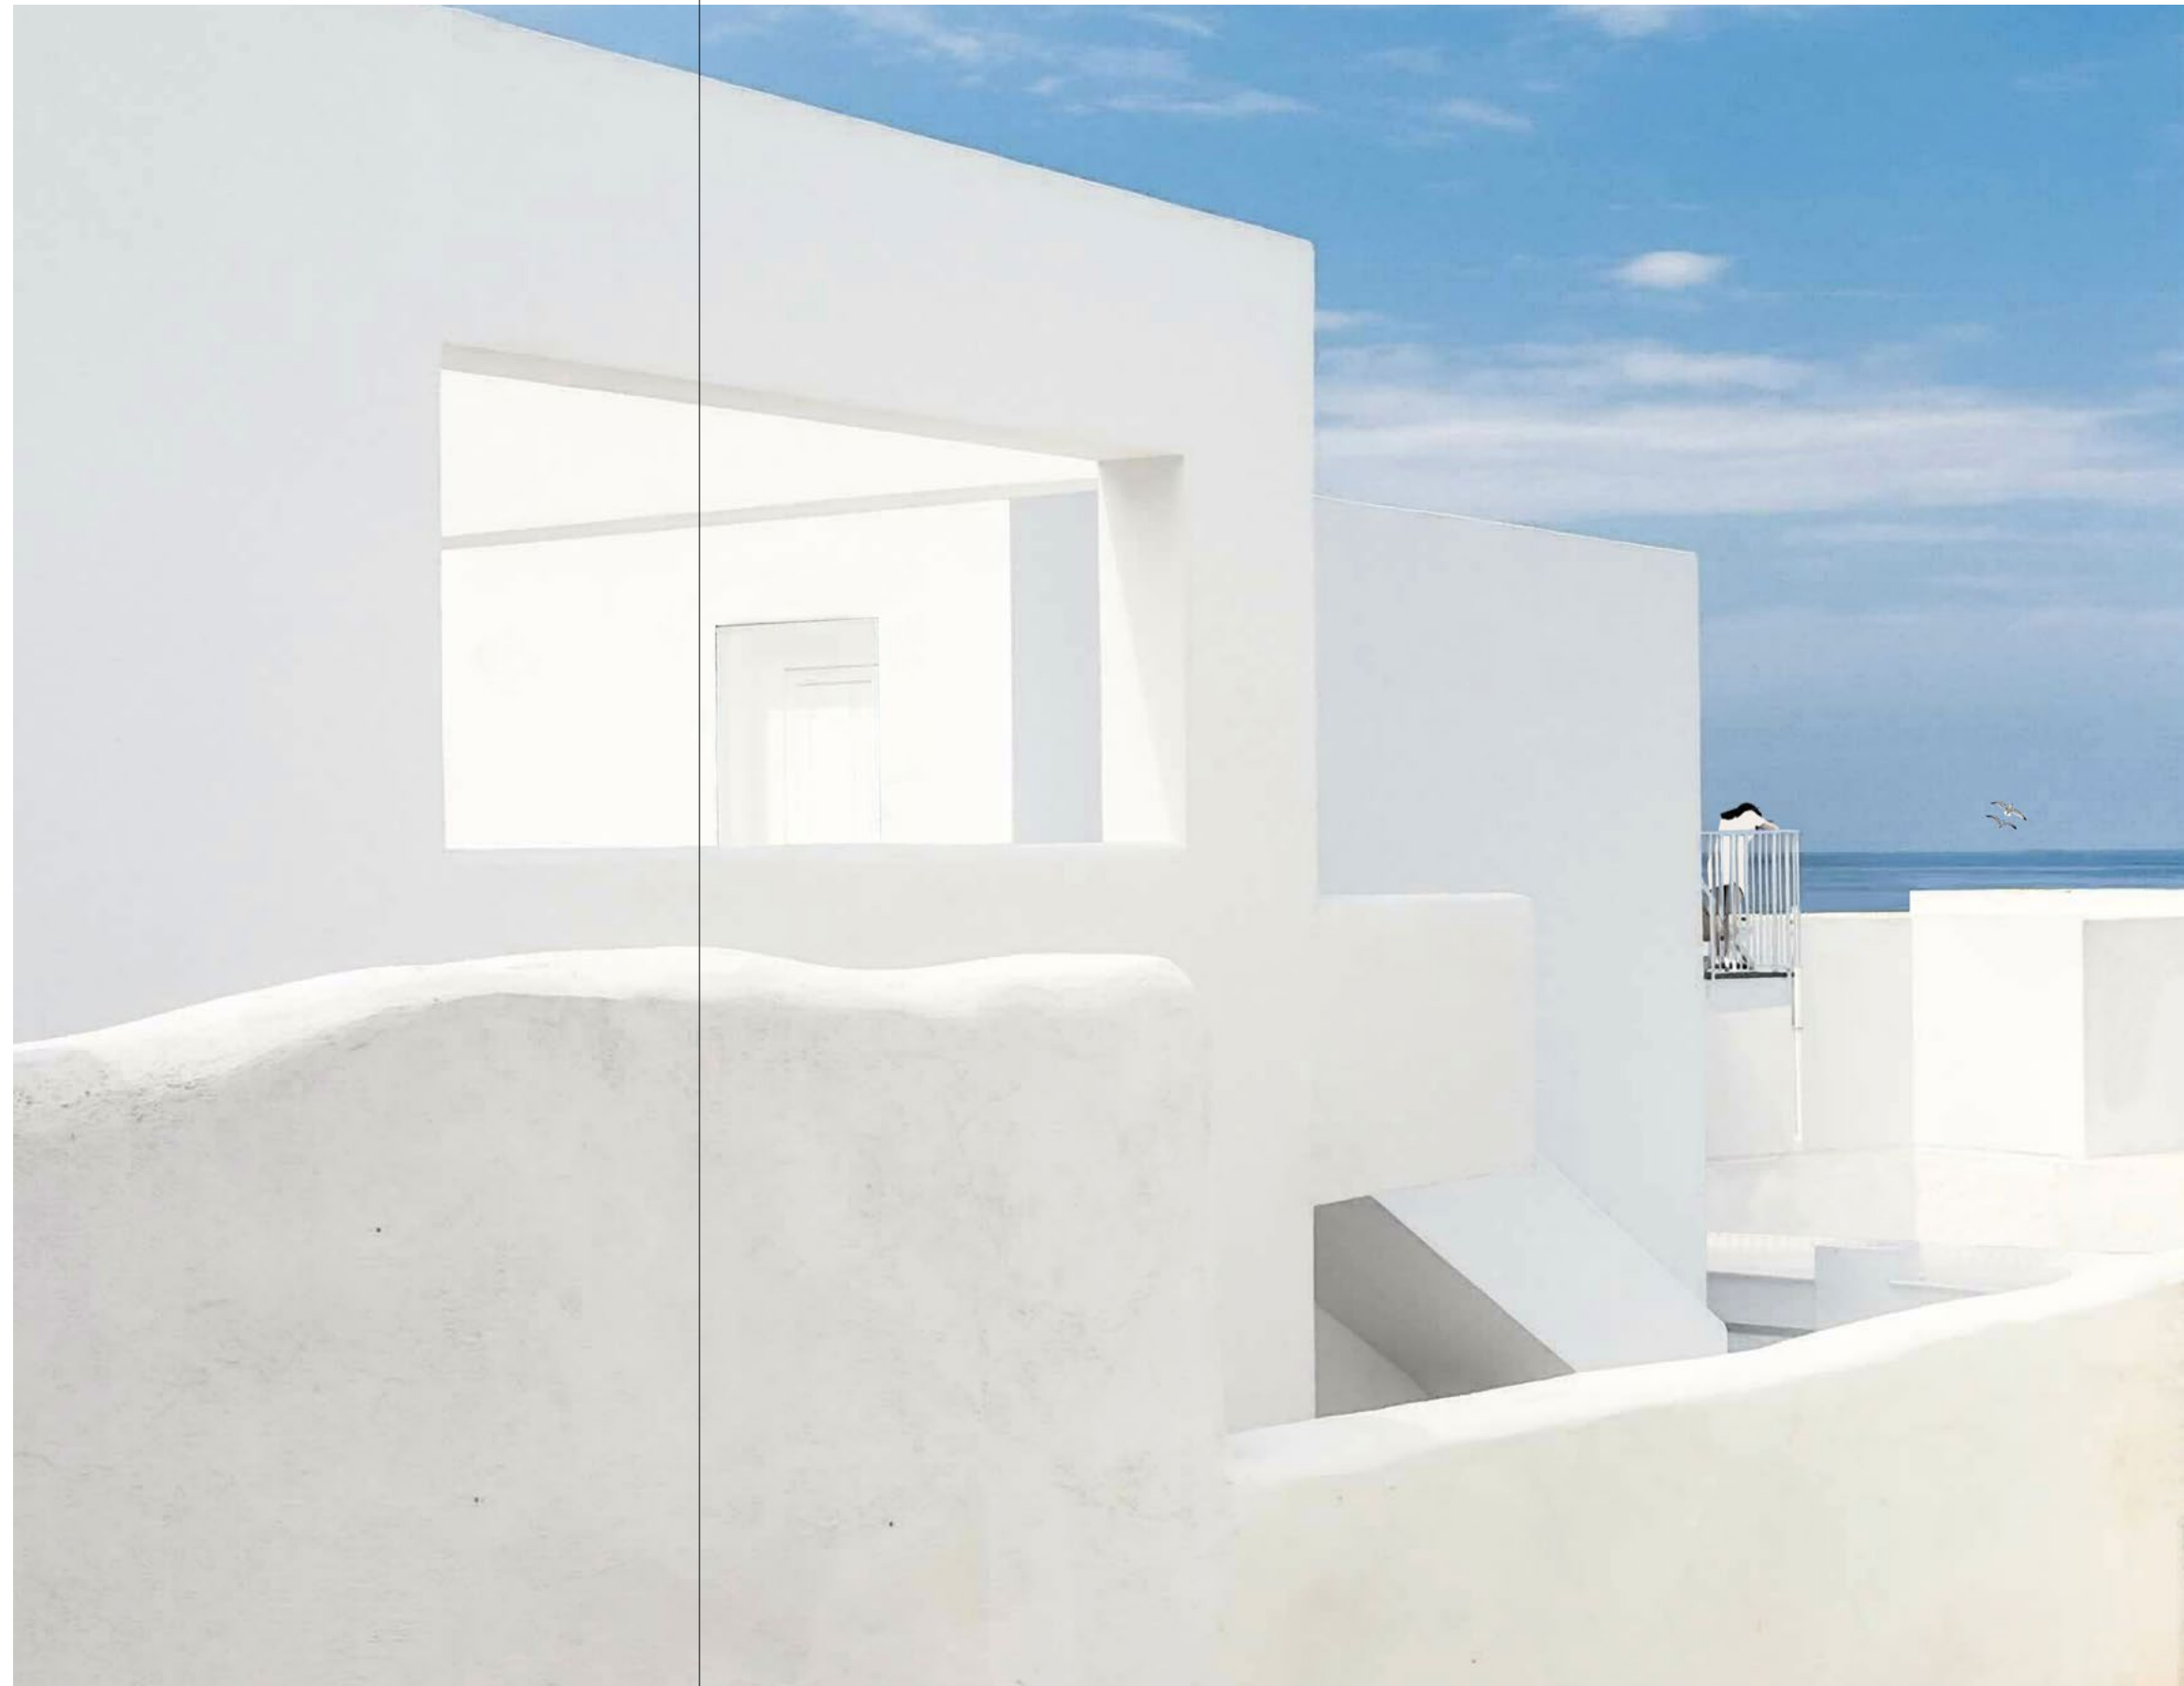

The asymmetrical relationship between others and oneself is not the real reason for love, rather it goes further into the surprising encounter of the other that love seems to vibrate to the point where all differences can be assumed. In this case the self is never born totally for the other, but rather for love of one and the other in the movement where each one will be born simultaneously with himself and with the other, in their encounter.

THE BATHERS

Contemplation before the mirrors of water is because water is already in itself the eye with which the world is contemplated. The dream vision is fragile and evanescent like the original dimension of man's being in front of the world and the appearance of the world to man.

THE SUMMER

Each of us is life for the moment.

We enter through the Sun and choose a place where you take leave of yourself and where destiny is a house without a door. A timeless dream of the spirit, in the boundless space where earth, air, light, sky and sea animate nature to live in the multitude of moments.

LIGHTNESS

Lovers seek to embrace in the depths of the abyss, pulled along by the same water. This informs us that it is love that flows, flows ignoring obstacles and goes on along its path. The vital water for the creature is the metaphor of the loving feeling that cannot be controlled or shaped. The unpredictability and the passion, which overwhelms the pure in heart.
